SEQUEL TO FIST FIGHT

Black Was Winning Affray When Tradesman Took Hand With Revolver.

Two men were shot and killed yesterday, one in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn and the other in Washington Heights. The first was Calogero Russo, shot before his home at 44 Watkins street, Brooklyn. The second was William Lewis, a negro, killed before 671 West 162d street.

Lewis was employed as a janitor and freeman at an apartment house at the West 162d street address. Late yesterday Hyman Sezer, 23, of 135 Seventeenth street, Brooklyn, who is employed at a grocery at 1640 Broadway, made a delivery in a pushcart to the house across the street from where Lewis worked. He left his pushcart at the curb, went into the cellar with the groceries and, when he returned, he found that some one had knocked over his cart and scattered fruits and groceries all over the street.

Small boys playing nearby pointed to Lewis, who was standing across the street, and said, "That negro did it." Lewis went into the cellar of his own place and Sezer after him. They began fighting in the cellar. Finally as the fight progressed, they made their way back up to the street, with a large crowd watching Sezer get the worst of it.

Sezer was being beaten badly when Milton Schwartz, who keeps a grocery at 2866 Broadway, near 164d street, saw the crowd gathering and pushed his way forward. He carried a revolver, for which he had a permit. When he reached the two men he upbraided the negro for fighting Sezer.

"Get out of this," said Lewis, "or I'll beat you up, too!" Schwartz said that Lewis made a move toward his hip pocket as if to draw his gun, and that, not wanting to take a chance, he drew his own gun and shot him. The negro dropped to the sidewalk and was dead when Dr. Arthur of Columbus Hospital arrived. Patrolman Parsons took Schwartz to the West 162d street station and locked him up, charged with homicide. Sezer, after being attended for cuts and bruises about the face and head, was held as a material witness.

The shooting of Russo in Brownsville happened early yesterday, just after Russo's wife, Mrs. Carmelia Russo, had kissed him goodby and had turned to do her housework. She heard two shots and ran to the window. She saw her husband lying on the sidewalk in front of the house. A few feet away was a double barreled sawed off shotgun, with two empty shells beside it. Mrs. Russo told the police that she did not know her husband had any enemies. The man who did the shooting was able to escape through an alleyway and over the back fence before any one saw him.

CROWD CATCHES MAID ACCUSED OF ROBBERY

Woman Admits One Theft, but Denies Stealing Habit.

Mary Ann Burkaine hadn't left the employ of Mrs. Estelle Levy, 826 Whitlock street, Friday more than two minutes when Mrs. Levy discovered that $652 worth of jewelry had gone. Moreover, certain articles of clothing that Mrs. Levy was fond of were missing. Mary Ann, colored, had been Mrs. Levy's maid of all work for only a few hours.

Mrs. Levy raised the cry of "Robbers!" and, assisted by the entire neighborhood, she chased Mary Ann down the street. A patrolman was in the mob. Mary Ann, clean beat from running, was discovered in a hallway.

Arraigned before Magistrate Frothingham, Mary Ann admitted attaching Mrs. Levy's property, but was vehement in her denial that she had been making a practice of such things. The police are trying to prove that Mary Ann is responsible for a number of such affairs during the past few weeks.

COUNTY SHORT OF FUNDS FOR HERRIN TRIAL COSTS

Jury Money Gone—Only $400 for Foreign Witness Fees.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. MARION, Ill., Nov. 18.—With four jurors chosen and three held tentatively a third panel will report Monday at the opening of the third week of the Herring massacre trial. Two panels have been exhausted.

Fifty new taleman are to report Monday and fifty Wednesday. It is believed progress the coming week will be even slower than during the last two weeks. Prospective jurors have learned that a fixed opinion will exempt them from service.

The jury funds of the county are exhausted and funds for foreign witnesses have been reduced to $400. There will be no further funds for these purposes until the new tax money comes in next February or March. Jurors and foreign witnesses will be paid in orders, which some banks in the county accept at a discount.

FRAUD CHARGE DROPPED.

Perceval T. Hill, president of the Interborough Lettergraph Company of 19 West Forty-fourth street, testified yesterday in Tombs court that Arthur F. Liggett, 46, of 17 East Forty-second street, who was arrested November 8 on suspicion of having defrauded the firm of stock, had been authorized to sell the stock and that therefore the company had no complaint against him. After Hill's statement Magistrate Ryttenberg discharged Liggett.

MOTT PROMISING NO HALL INDICTMENTS

With Mrs. Mills on the Lexington avenue trolley, Mrs. A. C. Paley, who lived close to the scene of the crime, and her boarder, Sigourney Smith, have been summoned, as has Mrs. Matthew Sultz, wife of the man who figures as the caretaker of the farm house.

Fingerprint Expert Called.

The Hall servants, Louise Geist, Barbara Tough and Peter G. Tumulty, have been summoned. So has William Stevens, brother of Mrs. Hall. Three doctors figure as witnesses: William H. Long, who performed the first autopsy; Smith, who was present at the second autopsy on Mrs. Mills's body, and who was Mrs. Mills's physician, and E. C. Cronk. There will be a representative of the Scripps laboratory and probably a representative of the Philadelphia dyeing establishment, to whom Mrs. Hall sent some clothes a few days after the crime.

A Newark fingerprint expert, Edward Schwartz, is to testify and so is Edwin Carpenter, Mrs. Hall's cousin, who was one of the first relatives at the Hall home the day the bodies were discovered. Wade H. Johns, who has given the authorities information of importance that has not been disclosed, is to be a witness, but it is not certain whether Catherine Russell, whom Gersline drove to her home on the Thursday night, is to be called. The driver of the farm wagon, which Mrs. Gibson says she followed, is a possible witness. Mrs. Gibson will be sure to appear.

Possibly a score more than fifty will have to be examined, as it is Mr. Mott's intention to make the presentation to the Grand Jury as thorough as possible. Every detail is to be told, which means that all who have figured in the stories for the last nine weeks probably will testify to as much as they know. The Norman Tinkles, who heard shots, will be called. So will Mrs. Harkins, who saw Hall and Mrs. Mills on their way out Easton avenue.

Nearly all of the State troopers on the case and the county detectives will have to testify. One of the new witnesses, it is believed, will testify that at a meeting of the Church Guild at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, shortly before the murder, a prospective social was discussed and the witness asked Mrs. Hall if she would attend. She glanced across the room at her husband and Mrs. Mills, who were having a tete-a-tete, and replied, "No, I guess I had better not," according to this witness.

To-day Judge Peter F. Daly was questioned about Rev. Paul F. Hamborsky. Judge Daly said that he had known him well and had had considerable trouble with him during the war, but that Hamborsky in many ways would try to help people.

The Phillips farm to-day became a mecca for motorists going through here on their way to the football game at Princeton. Limousines and lowly fivers alike headed toward the scene of the tragedy and De Russ's lane was even more crowded than is usual on Sundays.

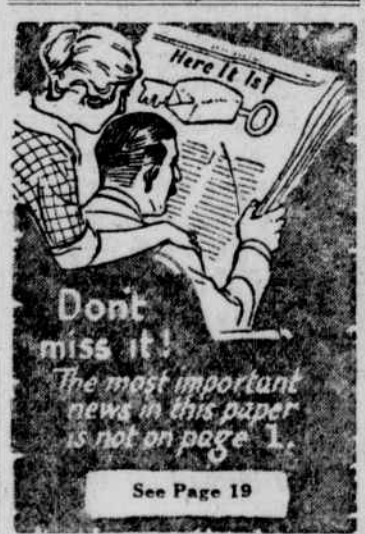

The crabapple tree having been removed by souvenir hunters, some of the newcomers are digging up handfuls of earth from the spot and carrying it away in bags.

BROKER BROUGHT BACK TO FACE THEFT CHARGE

William Tappan in Tombs After Arrest in Philadelphia.

William Tappan, 39, head of the firm of William Tappan & Co., 17 West Forty-second street, stock brokers, was brought here from Philadelphia yesterday by Detective John Cuniff and lodged in the Tombs.

Indicted in October for grand larceny in the first degree, Tappan is charged with misappropriating $18,852 of $23,600 which Critten Platt of 56 Beaver street put up with him in connection with a trading account. He will be arraigned to-morrow.

PHILADELPHIAN'S HEIRS GET CANADIAN MINE

Rich Gold Deposit Awarded by British Privy Council.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 18.—The Privy Council in London has confirmed the heirs of Allan I. Smith, Philadelphia, Pa., in possession of the Engineer group of mines at Atlin, B. C., according to a cable from the lawyer who represented them in a case involving their title by the Engineer Mining Company.

The property, ranking as one of the most valuable gold mines in the British Empire, was acquired by the company. After lapse of title for failure to meet legal requirements, the claims were restated by Capt. James Alexander, who later was drowned in a steamship disaster. His will conveyed the property to Smith, an associate, who died in 1910. The company charged that Alexander had wrongfully staked the mines.

WINTER COATS FOR GIRLS

In designing and selecting fabrics for our winter coats for girls from 4 to 16 years we have had in mind the conventions of dress that maintain at select city schools and finishing schools where for so many years our productions have been the accepted standard.

We have imported for our fur lined and fur trimmed coats for girls warm English fleeces, mixtures and overplaids and have secured for collars and cuffs specially selected matched skins of squirrel, opossum, fitch and raccoon.

We have specially designed to be worn with our girls' coats, hats of the materials and trimmed with the furs used in the coats.
